CONVENTION NEWS.

Republican Office Headquarters for the Latest Intelligence.

Since yesterday morning early interest in Decatur as to the work of the national Republican convention at St. Louis has been intense, and floods of inquiries as to the latest news have been made personally and by telephone at the Republican office, headquarters for news by telegraph. Nearly all day yesterday there was a crowd in front of the Republican office reading the many bulletins posted on the window. They told the story of the day's work in brief, and the people were kept informed as to what was being done in the convention hall. After the Republican went to press last evening, bulletins came stating that after the report of the committee on credentials had been adopted the convention adjourned to 10 a. m. today.

Crowds Again Today.

The Republican bulletins began to arrive early this forenoon. Some came soon after 9 o'clock. They were promptly posted on the window for the information of the general public. Merchants and clerks came around from their places of business to get the news and they came frequently while farmers and citizens stopped to read the bulletins.

This evening the bulletins will be posted as rapidly as they arrive.

BOLTERS' ADDRESS.

Explaining Their Course to the Voters of the Country.

THEY ADVERTISE FOR FOLLOWERS.

The Calamity Howl Raised, Gold Standard Men Denounced and a General Play to Make Teller a Free Silver President.

St. Louis, June 19.—The silver men who yesterday walked out of the Republican convention with others of the same faith, today issued a statement addressed to the people of the United States, and national conventions to be held. They sign it: "There is no sanctity in the mere party name and the mark of doom is set on individual strength in the nation when the absolute rule of political organizations coerces men from the truth for the sake of expediency and establishes a permanent submission to partisan rule for the sake of power. There has been growing in this country, swelling with each recurring National election, a great mass of independent thinkers and voters, who, falling within itself to control, has gravitated between two great parties, since 1872 (excepting possibly 1876), the pendulum has swung side to side each four years. In 1872 the Republican party elected the president. In 1876 the Democrats claimed the election. In 1880 the Republican party elected. In 1892 the Democrats elected. In 1896, until within a few weeks it has been conceded the Republicans would elect." The signers say this because the "party promises made were broken to the people by the party performance. They declare that during all this period we lacked a great constructive administration." "It becomes a source of reproach to any man that he should dare renounce allegiance to an organization. Men have been expected to submit their views to the dictations of convention although it is common knowledge that conventions have been swayed to views and declarations not the most approved by the mass of the people nor for their welfare."

The silver men further declare the "Time has come for the performance of a duty to the country. Parties may outlive their usefulness but the truth never becomes obsolete. Every generation of free men has a right to affirm truths of past knowledge and present requirements, and if the enforcement of these truths shall make a necessary departure from party organization, people have this right and will exercise it until old parties shall return to truth or new parties be created to enact it into law."

We held in the great work of social revolution in this country, monetary reform stands as the first requisite. No policy however promising of good results, can take its place. A continuation during the next four years upon the present financial system will bring down upon the American people a cloud of impending evil to avoid which should be the first thought of every statesman, and the first prayer of every patriot. Our very institutions are at stake. With a rapidly increasing population, with widely swelling demands, the basis of our money relatively contracting, and people passing into servitude, are all the more dangerous because not physically apparent.

The nation itself as compared to other nations looking that sturdy courage which could make it defiant in the face of injustice and international wrong. From the farmer and tradesman to the government there is an apparent shrinking from giving offense lest the vengeance of some offended financial power descend. Business submits to some portion of their judgment and will and the nation submits some portion of its international right, lest some mighty foreign creditor make destructive demands. Where will all this end if the people decline to assert themselves? The country cannot much longer exist free and independent against all the rest of the world, nor can its people much longer be free in the noblest sense of the term, in the United States, a debtor nation shall follow the policy dictated by the creditor nations. We produce all the necessities of life. Other nations consume our product. In the race for existence it is a constant struggle between the producers and the consumer. Our present system of money deliberately submits to the desire and profit of the creditor nation, leaving the masses and individuals a prey to the money gathering and the deadly cheapening policy of the old world. As debt to creditors abroad increases on the masses of the nation, the price of human production on the farm and in the workshop decreases with appalling rapidity, exacting more and more toll from our citizens to meet a given demand, and holding over their heads the threat of confiscation to meet their obligations, leaving them bare and defenseless.

This only remedy is to stop falling prices, the deadliest curse of national life. Prices never will cease falling under a single gold standard. Restoration of bimetalism by this country will double the basis of our money system. In time it will double the stock of primary money of the world, will stop falling prices and steadily elevate them until they regain their moral relation to volume of debts and credits in the world.

We have endeavored in a plain way to set this matter before the eyes of our fellow citizens. We invoke a union of all men and all parties who believe the time has come for the triumph of justice." The signers then pronounced a eulogy upon Senator Teller and suggest him to all national conventions yet to be held as a candidate for the presidency.

Following are signatures to the address: Fred D. Dubois, R. F. Pettigrew, Frank J. Cannon, Charles H. Hartman, Bon E. Rich, Clarence E. Allen, A. S. Robertson, A. C. Cleveland, Willis Sweet, Amasa B. A strong effort is being made to get the delegates who did not withdraw from the convention to sign the appeal to the people. In a conference with the representatives of the Populist and bimetalist league it was arranged for them to endorse Teller and have such a strong fusion against the gold standard advocates as to induce the Democratic national convention also to endorse him. The bolters have been conferring with ex-Governor Francis and members of the Democratic committee. They have no assurances from Democratic members but have been invited to send representatives to the Democratic national convention to confer with the party. The silver men will keep up their work till all the national conventions have been held with the view of perfecting a general fusion. The silver conferees claim they have not more than half the signatures promised. It is known there are differences of opinion among the silver delegates and some who denounce the gold standard do not favor the independent movement.

GARRETT A. HOBART.

Biographical Sketch of the Republican Nominee for Vice President.

Garret August Hobart was born June 3, 1844, in Monmouth county, New Jersey. His father's name was Addison W., and mother's Sophia. Hobart's father was a school teacher, but later became a farmer.

His early life was spent in Monmouth county within sight of the historic revolutionary battlefield of Monmouth, and his early education was obtained in the common schools of Newark and Paterson neighborhood. Later, at the age of 17, he entered Rutgers College, New Brunswick, and spent four years there, graduating with high honors when 21 years old. He went to Paterson and commenced the study of law in the office of Socrates Tuttle, destined to become his brother-in-law later in life. After spending three years in the law office he was admitted to the practice of law in the state of New Jersey and worked up a large and remunerative practice, being counsel of the city and county governments.

He was early identified with politics, but sought no political office until 1873, when he was elected a member of the state legislature. The next year, 1874, he was re-elected and was made speaker of the assembly by a unanimous vote of his colleagues. In 1875 he was elected state senator from the Paterson district, and three years after was given the place as president of the upper body of the assembly.

A number of times he was solicited to accept the nomination for congressman from his home district, but would not accept. In 1880 he was the Republican nominee for United States senator, but the assembly being overwhelmingly Democratic he failed to secure the coveted seat, the honor falling to John R. McPherson. Mr. Hobart was chairman of the Republican state executive committee for twelve years, and New Jersey member of the national committee since 1884.

He was married to Jennie Tuttle, the daughter of Hon. Socrates Tuttle, under whom he had studied law, July 30, 1860, and has one son living, Garret Augustus, now 12 years old. He was appointed one of the receivers of the New Jersey Midland railroad, and Hugh McCullough, of New York, was joint receiver, looking after the New York interests of the road. Later, under the direction of the court, he became the sole receiver, and reorganized the road under the name of the Susquehanna Western. At the time of the receivership there were large amounts owing to the army of employees, and Mr. Hobart claims the credit of hiring legal counsel to see that their interests were protected against those of numerous preferred creditors. In acknowledgement for this fair treatment the men passed resolutions thanking him for the interest taken in their behalf.

On December 12, 1895, he was appointed one of three arbitrators for the Joint Traffic association lines, including thirty-two roads. The purpose of the arbitration commission was to prevent discrimination and protect the individual lines in all their rights. The arbitrators have not, nor can they have any pecuniary interest in the roads comprised under the association.

Complaint was made that the existence of the board was contrary to the purpose and intent of the interstate commerce act, but Judge Wheeler, of Vermont, has recently decided that its existence was not only legal, but necessary for the protection of shippers from discrimination by railroads or otherwise.

Mr. Hobart has been in public life in New Jersey ever since he was 28 years of age, but his most recent triumph, and one in which he prides himself most, is his participation in the state campaign in New Jersey, which resulted in the selection of John W. Griggs, the first Republican governor the state has had in thirty years.

Horace Boice Won't Talk.

Chicago, June 19.—Ex-Governor Horace Boice, of Iowa, arrived here this morning. He refused to discuss the political situation. He declined to say whether Morrison's refusal to run on a Democratic silver platform had any material bearing on his own candidacy.

gratulatory telegrams are piled up several feet high here, which it is impossible to send, owing to the rush of matter. The governor has received thousands and they continue to pour in.

At the demonstration last night the crowd congratulated McKinley on his nomination through a speech by F. E. Case, one of Akron's prominent lawyers, to which Major McKinley responded as follows:

"My friends and fellow-citizens: I am greatly honored by this demonstration. Its non-partisan character forbids political discussion, and I appear only to make grateful acknowledgments to your address and congratulations. I am not indifferent to the pleasure which you exhibit at the news just received from the Republican national convention. For days your interest has been centered upon St. Louis and your presence in such vast numbers testifies to your personal good will as well as your gratification with the work there done. Your cordial assurances are all the more appreciated by me because they come from my fellow-citizens, men of all parties, my neighbors, my former constituents, and my old army comrades, with whom I have lived almost a life time, and who have honored me over and over again with important public trusts. Your warm words are reciprocated and will be long remembered. Many of those around me have not always agreed with me, nor I with them, touching political questions. But it is pleasant as I look into your faces to recall that in all the years of the past there has never been a moment of time when you have withheld from me your friendship, your encouragement, and your confidence. You have always been most generously loyal, and my heart is full of gratitude to you all.

"There is nothing more gratifying or honorable to any man than to have the regard and esteem of his fellow-townsmen, and in this I have been peculiarly blessed. Never were neighbors more devoted or unfaltering in their support than you have been to me. You have always made my cause your cause and my home among you has been one of increasing pleasure.

"This country and city are very dear to me. Here I have spent all of my young manhood and I have been identified with this magnificent county for nearly a third of a century. I have followed up the growth with unswerving pride and have noted with satisfaction that it has kept pace with the most advanced and prosperous communities and has fallen behind none.

"I am glad to greet you here. You have never failed to greet me with your best wishes and congratulations upon every occasion of my nomination to a public office, commencing twenty-one years ago, when I was first named by my party for congress. I cannot undertake to estimate the value of these many friendly demonstrations, so helpful, so stimulating, more than you could have anticipated or believed at the time. Your call today is warmly appreciated and I thank you from the bottom of my heart for what you have said, as expressive of the feelings of those for whom you speak. This latest evidence of your esteem makes me more than ever indebted to you, and the happy memory of your kindness and confidence will abide with me forever.

"Inside the McKinley home, whose chief charm is its refreshing simplicity, crowded upon the stairways, sitting and standing in the various parlors were Major McKinley's most intimate friends. Many shed tears of joy when the news was received that McKinley's nomination had been made unanimous.

Among those present were Mrs. William McKinley, Sr., the governor's mother; Miss Helen McKinley, Miss Grace McKinley, Mrs. Myron T. Horrick of Cleveland, Mrs. H. O. S. Holstead, Mrs. John M. Taylor, Miss Eva Phillips, Mrs. George B. Freness, Mrs

McKinley and Hobart.

With a sound tariff the country will again get on the highway of prosperity.

Now for the Democratic convention at Chicago July 8. It will be the show of the season.

Some months ago there was an inquiry:
"Who is Mark Hanna?" That question has been answered to the satisfaction of everybody.

It is refreshing to know that McKinley was nominated without jangling deals and promises to any div and hat votes to spare.

Some eastern men are saying the east forced the western Republicans to declare for sound money. The east never forced the west to do anything. The west contributed victories for sound money when New York was voting the Democratic ticket.

McKinley was born February 26, 1844, and Hobart was born June 8, 1814. Both were, therefore, born the year James K.
Polk defeated Henry Clay for president and the people were sold out on the tariff by the successful Democracy.

The free coinage of silver has troubled the politics of the country since 1878. It forced two compromises, one in 1878 known as the Allison-Bland silver purchase act and the Sherman silver purchase act of 1890 which was repealed in 1893. It will be voted up or down this year.

The Hon. Billy Lorrimer could not do violence to his conscience and he refused to vote with his colleagues for McKinley.
This means that he was really in earnest when he published those interviews distracting the people of Illinois what to do, as to the presidency. He played even.
As he could not run the country he demonstrated that the country could not run him.

During the war when greenbacks were issued and put into circulation to save the country, California refused to accept them as money holding that the only money was gold and gold was the money of California. Now that an attempt is being made in time of peace to debase the money of the country by the free coinage of a cheap dollar California denounces gold and wants the cheap dollar.

The Victory

The nomination of McKinley by a majority of 426 votes over all his opponents is the greatest victory ever awarded any candidate in a Republican convention.

The preliminary canvass was a long one and the effort to prevent his nomination was the most determined and the final effort of Platt, the most infamous ever resorted to to defeat a man who was known to be the choice of the people. Conditions had arisen that put McKinley in a position where the rank and file of the party demanded his nomination. Plans were laid by those who believed they had a divine right to name the man for president they desired to see the people vote for, to defeat the nomination of McKinley.
They were fully confident they could compass that object. Mark A. Hanna, who believes in the people and in McKinley, had undertaken to crystallize the sentiment for McKinley throughout the country and secure an official expression of that sentiment in the shape of resolutions of instructions in conventions. It was said that he was only a simpliminded business man; that the politicians were against McKinley and that settled it. But the result shows that the so-called politicians are not as invincible as they made themselves believe and in the national convention the simple minded business man rode over the elect with a flaming chariot of popular victory, and in the language of one of our citizens 10,000 bosses were slaughtered.

When the delegates in the Seventh congressional district were instructed for Mc-Kinley it was said that those delegates would be dearly bought delegates for Mc-Kinley. The gentleman who said it believed that "the organization" in Illinois would be powerful enough to prevent other districts from instructing for McKinley but district after district broke away and instructed for him. The state convention did likewise and at the national convention the entire vote of Illinois with two exceptions was cast for McKinley just as the Seventh district delegates had been instructed to vote.
Those delegates did not prove expensive to McKinley.

The victory means that the people have had their way and nominated their choice for president. It means that those gentleman who formed the combination to defeat McKinley have been completely routed and their camps destroyed and that they will be laughed at if they over-again attempt to cross the path of the people's will. Their self-selected mission has ended never more to defy free expression and free choice. The grand victory has strengthened the Republican party beyond the power of computation. The people feel they have an interest in the election of McKinley because they nominated him and they realize that the nominee is the people's man, the great commoner of this age and the campaign will be the most enthusiastic ever known.
The Republican party will be restored to power and the country will restore protection to American industries and American currency.

The Silver Bolt.

There was an attempt to make the bolt of the silver men in the national convention dramatic. That attempt was a failure and instead of tears and appeals as they retired the delegates sang the "Red, White and Blue." It was not because the party felt able to do without the bolters and was independent that this spirit was shown but because the party had reached a point where it was determined that these people should no longer be permitted to compromise the party. The bolt of the silver men will be reckoned from the date of the convention but this is not true. The silver men bolted the party when they joined the populists in the senate to defeat the provisional tariff bill to replenish the federal treasury and redeem it from the result of stupid Democratic legislation. It was then that these men became revolutionists and attempted by a free silver rider to that bill to force the majority of the senators of their party to vote for free silver in violation of their own free consent, or see the government starve to death. It was then they bolted the party and by that act which was most reprehensible, put themselves in a position where, as honest men, they had no business in a convention of Republican delegates, whom they knew were opposed to the free coinage of silver under present conditions.

The Republican party will have an organization in the states from which the bolters were sent and the day is not far distant when the party in these states will be purified and populism and socialism and free silverism will be overthrown and the bolters of 1890 with them.
Whether this occurs or not the party has freed itself from every taint of free silver foolishness and can make a straightforward fight for the principles it believes in.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.

There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, deafness will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, O.

SHED RIVERS OF TEARS.

Startling Ammonia Pipe Sets a Multitude to Weeping.

A dozen funerals could not have produced the weeping that there was on Harrison avenue the other evening, and yet there were no deaths that have been reported. The cause of the tears was the ammonia that was rampant on the street, says the Springfield Republican.
The Kibbe Brothers company has just bought a new refrigerating machine for cooling their chocolate. The workmen had just finished putting it in and had started it for a trial, when a pipe burst and the ammonia vapor, which is used for producing the cold, escaped rapidly into the basement, causing a general stampede. Nothing could stand before the stinging vapor, and it soon had the basement all to itself. But that was not enough; it spread upward throughout the building, but, as it was six o'clock anyhow, and the employees were just coming out, it did no harm there. But it also spread out into the street, and filled it full as far as Dwight street, and the passers-by had to hold their handkerchiefs in their faces. A considerable crowd gathered as near as they dared to watch the efforts of one of the workmen to get his coat and vest, which he had left in the basement in his hurried escape. It was impossible to go into the place again, and he got a long pole and angled through an open window for his garments. It was hazardous fishing, however, and the ammonia soon drove him away baffled, and he went to his supper in his working jacket. Nothing could be done but let the ammonia waste its sweetness till it was spent, and the aroma was powerful all night.

BONHEUR'S LATEST PICTURE.

Portrayal of a Historical Duel Fought by Two Famous Horses.

At Lefevre's gallery, in King street, St. James, London, is the last effort of that astonishing genius, Mlle. Rosa Bonheur, in a large picture called "The Duel," an historical incident of 1734, representing a combat between two famous heroes, the Godolphin Arabian and Highborn, the property of Lord Godolphin. The two thoroughbred animals are engaged in fierce fight with teeth and heels, and it is needless to say that such a subject severely taxes the best powers of an animal painter. The famous author of "The Horse Fair" has not failed, and now, at a time of life when she has passed the allotted space of man upon earth, she has produced a work which, in design, drawing, and execution, she has never excelled in her prime. Those caring for horse painting will be more than delighted with this really extraordinary production, which surpasses the pictures of most of the greatest masters and is excelled by none. In an upper gallery at Lefevre's, also, is a portrait of Mlle. Bonheur by Marchioness de Grass, or, as she signs herself, Consuela Pould. The great animal painter is pictured standing, in three-quarter length, wearing a black velvet blouse, palette and brushes in one hand, and the other on the head of her noble hound, Lunnon. As those of us who have seen Mlle. Bonheur know, she is a type of dignified, handsome old age; and in this eminently successful presentation we see her as she really is—bright eyes, comely and singularly intelligent looking.

During the tornado at East St. Louis a window over the altar of the Mount Calvary Episcopal church was blown down.
The window was placed there in memory of James B. Eads, the engineer who built the famous bridge which bears his name.
By a coincidence, the east portion of the bridge and the memorial window fell at the same moment. The window contained a picture of the face of the Savior, surmounted by a crown of thorns. Underneath was the inscription, "In memory of James B. Eads, born May 28, 1820, Died March 8, 1887." It was the only memorial window in the church that was broken.

The Illinois Central will run another cheap excursion to Chicago next Saturday and next Sunday, June 20 and 21st.
Only $2 for the round trip. Good on Saturday morning, train leaving Decatur at 7 a. m. and arriving in Chicago at 12:30 noon. Also good returning on special train leaving Chicago at 10:30 p. m.
Sunday night in addition to all regular trains leaving Chicago on Saturday and Sunday. Tickets and information at Union Depot or City Office.

A mother and daughter in LaSalle each gave birth to a child at about the same time and in the same house, and the doctor in his hurry laid the two babies in the same cradle, and no one present knew which child belonged to a certain mother.
As the younger woman wanted a son, and the older one a daughter, the matter was amicably settled, as one was a boy and the other a girl. But they will never know whether they have their own children.

There was lots of music in the air last night, with Goodman's band in Central park and the Modern Woodmen band in the street cars on their way to Riverside park. And then the Salvation Army was out on the square holding a meeting which was interrupted by the police capturing ten members of the party a-taking them to the lock-up for non-payments of the fines imposed for obstructing the sidewalks.

Mr. Silverman, the young man who was injured by a fall off the street car at Riverside park Monday night is still confined to his bed. He was more seriously hurt than was at first supposed and it will be some days yet before he will be able to resume his duties as a travelling representative for a New York house. He is a cousin of L. Silverman of the Savings Bank Store.

There will be great sorrow in the camp of the rooters if as now appears to be the probability the grand jury brings in indictments against those responsible for the ball games at the park on Sundays.
The jig will then be up for Sunday sport, and the cranks will vote Decatur a "slow town" with no snap to it. And so it goes.

At the Christian church on Sunday the pulpit will be occupied by President Hardin of the Europa college. During the time that a part of the congregation was holding services in the old church on Edward street he preached there and made a very favorable impression on that portion of the congregation.

Last evening Coastable Conard closed the J. W. Heath confectionery on North Water street on an execution for $80 in favor of Kiddle & Letts.

The grand jury may stop Sunday ball playing by indicting the principals. Only week day games will be heard of hereafter.

Prof. Soldan will give a concert tonight at Macon, and another at Sioux Falls, S.
D. He will sail for Europe about July 1.
The Prof. Pitkin athletic class entertainment will be given on June 30. It will be a novel and entertaining affair.

It is the purpose of the authorities to keep the Salvation Army people in jail until they pay their fines.

Go to Chicago over the Illinois Central next Saturday and Sunday, June 30 to 21st $2 for the round trip.

The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Hickey will be held on Saturday.

Work on the new directory for Decatur is in progress. Ebel & Co. will be the publishers.

Sociable tonight at the College street chapel. All are invited to be present.

Horace Morgan, the veteran railway conductor, is a very sick man.

It is McKinley and Hobart, and it is the winning ticket.

Frank Farles sent up a balloon last evening.

It Was a Success.

The concert given last evening by Goodman's band in Central park was a success. Hundreds of persons were at the park all evening listening to the music which was unusually good.

Will Study Music.
Miss May Kimber will leave tomorrow for Oskosh, Wis., where she will stay all summer. She will study singing under Francis Fisher Powers, the well known vocalist, who is conducting a summer school at that place. Miss Kimber is one of the best vocalists of the city and has gained for herself a great deal of praise as a singer.

The Average Weight of Hogs.
The 3,184,471 hogs received at Chicago the first five months of 1896 averaged 341 pounds. The 3,549,580 hogs received the same period of 1895, averaged 223 pounds, showing an increase of eighteen pounds for 1896 compared with 1895. Receipts the first five months of 1896, however, decreased 406,106 hogs compared with 1895.

Maud Muller Up to Date.
Maud Muller on a summer night went out on her bike in the bright moonlight.
She pedaled around from 6 to 10 on a trip that would fag the strongest men, but her heart was light and her spirits gay, for it wasn't work, 'twas nothing but play.
Next morning, however, she'd a pain in her head, she was all played out and sleazed in bed, while her mother hustled in the kitchen below—not to ride a wheel but to make things go. Though the morning was hot and she worked by the fire she didn't collapse with a punctured tire. Alas for the girl and the woman, see; things are not as they used to be.

Decatur Badly Beaten.
In the game at the base ball park last evening the Decatur players found their match when they went up against the sawberry pickers from the town of Centralia. The Egyptians belong to the southern league and are pretty well up in all that pertains to the national game.
They put a lot of ginger into their work and kept the home players chasing the sphere. Flynn was the Decatur pitcher, and Wallace was in the box for the Centralia club. There were about 235 people present. The score by innings was: Centrاليا 3 2 3 4 3 0 2 *—19 Decatur. 0 0 1 0 4 1 1 0—7
Not a very good showing, was it?

Horace Tucker Appointed.
Mr. Horace Tucker has been appointed traffic manager for the Chicago, Hammond and Western railway, with headquarters in Chicago.

Mr. Tucker was for about fifteen years general freight agent of the Illinois Central, and was superintendent of admissions at the World's Fair. Since the close of the fair Mr. Tucker has been practically in retirement.

The Chicago, Hammond and Western is a newly incorporated road, organized to build a belt line around Chicago between the downtown inner and outer belt lines. Mr. Tucker is an able traffic man, he says the new road is destined to be a big belt system.

$100,000,000 Represented.
At the meeting of the Building association of Illinois in session at Peoria, with 100 delegates present, President Penfield made the statement that the building associations of Illinois represented $100,- 000,000, or nearly as much as the savings banks, the state banks and the national banks in the state combined. The auditor's report gave the total receipts of 726 associations in Illinois for the year as amounting to $40,306,969; assets, $88,- 689,258, of which $4,860,779 was in real estate, showing an increase in the assets of the associations of the state for this year of nearly 10 per cent. The condition of the loan and homestead associations is generally better than a year ago. Papers on a variety of topics were read.

The Farnsworth Estate.
In the county court yesterday the will of A. R. Farnsworth, late of Blue Mound was filed for probate. The estate comprises about an acre of town lots in Blue Mound and personal property valued at $800. The entire estate is bequeathed to the widow until her death or remarriage, when it is to be divided equally between the children. The daughter, Lucy, also gets $100 additional. The children are Austin W., Edwin H., David W., C. C. and Lucy E. Farnsworth. Ole D. Taylor and Rosena S. Ward. Two grandsons, Harry and Frank, are to have the share of their deceased father, H. W. Farnsworth.
The will was executed January 4, 1894, and attested by Ceola R. Sprague and George Nichols. The widow, Cynthia A. Farnsworth and the daughter, Lucy E., are named as executors, without bond.

Went Down the Grade.
Blue Mound Leader: The sad accident which befel Charles Bauer near the Decatur bridge was almost followed by another one in the same neighborhood Tuesday evening. Mrs. W. D. Crayne and sister, Mrs. G. R. Parish, accompanied by their children, were returning from a visit to Decatur in a surrey. Just after passing under the railroad bridge, and before reaching the wagon bridge the St. Louis fast express came along and frightened their team. Before they could get control of the horse it had left the road, and the whole outfit went down the embankment, rolling completely over and coming right side up against a barb wire fence. Strange to relate, no damage was done, except one of the little girls had her lip slightly cut.
Samuel Dillehaut was a little distance behind them and saw the accident. He hurried to their assistance, and horse and carriage having suffered no damage soon had them started on the journey home, which they made without further accident. It was a most miraculous escape, and the ladies are to be congratulated on their good fortune in escaping an injury.

A WOMAN UNDERTAKER.

A First County Girl Who Is Skillful at the Work.

A correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "Although the spirit of evolution pervades the atmosphere of woman just at present, there are instances now and then where force of circumstances has something to do with her conspicuous position in the commercial world. An example of this kind may be cited in the case of Miss Anna Flennor, a charming young lady whose home is at Alwood, Ill., where she is widely known and respected for her many admirable womanly qualities, as for her good business methods and practical common sense. A few years ago Miss Flennor left the high school, taught a country school for a time for means with which to continue her education at Oxford Seminary for two or three years, and then prepared to settle down to school teaching as her life's work. About this time her only brother, a few years younger than herself, decided to begin a business career, but was so unprepared and indifferent that it was thought best for his sister Anna to be associated with him. Accordingly they opened a store for the sale of furniture and undertaking goods, and Mr. Flennor became a practical embalmer and undertaker. It was very evident from the start that Miss Anna must carry the burden of the responsibility, and as time wore on she assumed more and more control of the business, doing all the purchasing of goods and personally directing all funerals which came under their charge. She is called to take care of the dead, and with the delicacy and skill of a true woman, she prepares the old and the young for their last resting place in a manner which is gratifying and comforting to the sorrowing friends.

"Her first experience in this part of the work was one which was fraught with much anxiety and nervous dread, but her quick wit and aptitude for the work have made her very expert. She is a quiet, modest, refined young lady, who has simply by force of circumstances made herself a place in the business world, and is looked upon by her friends and associates as a thoroughly successful woman. No thought or talk of the new woman question has ever been heard in her household. She is only doing the work that came to hand, and making the best of her opportunities. Would that there were many more like her—the pride and hope of their families."

Diagnosis of Grippe.

True grippe is a germ disease. These germs are in the circulation and pervade every tissue and organ of the body. This brings speedy collapse and often death to the aged and debilitated. The only germicide known that searches out and destroys every germ in the system is Brazilian Balm. A week or ten days' treatment effects a complete cure.

FORAKER'S SPEECH.

Ring Words for McKinley Interrupted by the Shouts of the Multitude.

The nomination of McKinley for president came so late in the day that it was not possible to publish Foraker's speech naming McKinley for president in the report of yesterday and it is published to day for the reason that many will want to know what he said in presenting the name of the great commoner, William McKinley, for president. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:

It would be exceedingly difficult, if not entirely impossible, to exaggerate the disagreeable experiences of the last four years. The grand aggregate of multitudinous bad results of the Democratic national administration may be summed up as one stupendous disaster; it has been a disaster, however, not without at least one redeeming feature, it has been fair—no body has escaped it. (Laughter.) It has fallen equally alike upon all sections of the country, and the consequent poverty and distress have been the rewards of labor; distress and bankruptcy have overtaken business, shrunken values have dissipated fortunes, deficient revenues have impoverished the government, brought about bond issues, bond syndicates, discouraged a scandalous nation.

Over against this fearful penalty, however, to be set down one great compensatory result, it has destroyed the Democratic party. (Great applause.) The proud columns which swept the country in triumph in 1892 are broken and horseless in 1896. Their boasted principles, when they came to the test of practical application, prove nothing but fallacies and their great leaders have degenerated into warring chieftains of petty and irreconcilable factions.

Their boasted principles, when put to the test of proper application, have proven delusive fallacies. Their approaching national convention is but an approaching nightmare. No man pretends to be able to predict any good result to come from it, and no man is seeking the nomination of that convention except such as are willing to proclaim their willingness to stand upon any platform that may be adopted.

The truth is, the party that could stand up under the odium of human slavery, opposition to the war for enfranchisement, reconstruction and specie resumption, at last finds itself overmatched and undone by itself. It is writhing in the throes of dissolution, superinduced by a dose of its own medicine. No human agency can prevent its absolute overthrow at the next election, except only this convention. If we make no mistakes the Democratic party will go out of power on the 4th of March to remain until God in his wisdom and mercy and goodness shall see fit once more to chastise his people. (Applause.)

No Mistakes.

"So far we have not made any mistake. We have adopted a platform which, notwithstanding the scenes witnessed in this hall this morning, meets the demands and expectations of the American people. It remains for us now at last to crown our work here, to complete our work by nominating a good candidate.

"The people want a good Republican, they want something more than a wise patriotic statesman; they want a man who embodies in himself not only all the essential qualifications, but who in addition, in the highest possible degree, has typified in his character, record, ambition, and purpose the exact opposite of all that is signified and represented by the free trade, defunct-making, bond-issuing, labor-saving Democratic administration. (Cheers.)

"I stand here to present to this convention such a man. His name is William McKinley.

Foraker got no farther than the name of the Ohio statesman. Even before the last syllable had passed his lips, with one great swell, the delegates and occupants of the galleries sprang to their feet, and let out a yell that would have driven out of the pastures the far famed bull of Basham. The Convention Simply Went Wild.

Delegates in every part of the hall were standing on the seats waving red, white and blue plumes, flags and umbrellas. The blowing of horns added to the din. Maine, Massachusetts, New York, and Pennsylvania remained seated with a few exceptions. A large cry, portrait of McKinley was raised by one of the delegates. The noise was deafening. The band played, "Marching Through Georgia," the convention taking up the song. The singing continued for some time, Mark Hanna relaxing enough to beat time. The band played "The Battle Cry of Freedom," the convention singing the words. Then the music shifted to "America," then to "Star Spangled Banner," starting the enthusiasm anew.

At the end of fifteen minutes the chairman rapped for order in vain. The band played "Hail Columbia," and shifted to "Red, White and Blue," in which the convention joined in singing. Then came "Dixie," the southern delegates cheering tremendously. The demonstration lasted twenty-six minutes before it exhausted itself sufficiently for Foraker to resume, which he did as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Convention: You seem to have heard of the name of my candidate before. (Laughter and cheers.) He is known the world over. His testimonials are private life, without reproach; four years of heroic service as a boy soldier on the battlefields of the republic under such gallant generals as Phil H. Sheridan, (Applause); twelve years of conspicuous service in the halls of congress associated with the great leaders of the Republicans, (Applause); four years of executive service as governor of Ohio; but greatest of all, reassured by present requirements, leader of the house of representatives and framer of the 'McKinley law' (Tremendous applause), a law under which labor has had a richer reward and the country has greatly increased in prosperity. No other name so completely meets the requirements of the American people, no other man so absolutely commands their hearts and affections. The shafts of envy, malice and dereliction are broken harmless at his feet. They have been shot and shot in vain and the quiver is empty, and also because the people have known him, trust him, and love him no effort to disparage him can succeed. They know he is patriotic, they know he is an American of Americans, they know he is wise, that he is able and true and they want him for president of the United States. They have already so declared, not in this state or section, but in all states, all sections of our country from ocean to ocean, and the gulf to the lakes. They expect us to give them a chance to vote for him. It is our duty to do it. If we discharge that duty we will give joy to their hearts, enthusiasm to the campaign and be in turn will give us an administration under which the country will enter upon a new era of prosperity at home and glory and honor abroad.

"By all these tokens of the present, all these promises for the future in the name of the forty-six delegates of Ohio, I submit his claims to your consideration." (Loud cheering.) Another outburst of applause greeted the closing words of the eloquent Ohioan.

GARRET A. HOBART

Nominated for Vice President on the First Ballot.

St. Louis, June 19.—After the nomination for president had been made yesterday and the result announced the convention proceeded at once to the nomination of a candidate for vice president.

Lodge moved that speeches be limited to five minutes.

Samuel Fessenden of Connecticut was recognized and nominated Bulkley.

General Hobart was named by Franklin Fort of Newark, N. J. He spoke as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Convention:

I rise to present to this convention the claims of New Jersey to the vice-presidency.

We come because we feel that we can for the first time in our history bring to you a promise that our electoral vote will be cast for your nominee. If you comply with our request this promise will surely be redeemed.

For forty years through the blackness of darkness of a universal tri-phant Democracy, the Republicans of New Jersey have maintained their organization and fought as valiantly as if the outcome were to be assured victory. Only twice through this long period has the sun shone in upon us.

Yet, through all these weary years we have like Goldsmith's "Captive," felt that

"Hope, like the gleaming taper light Adorns and cheers our way;
And still, as darker grows the night, Emits a brighter ray."

The fulfillment of this hope came in 1894. In that year, for the first time since the Republican party came into existence, we sent to congress a solid delegation of eight Republicans, and elected a Republican to the United States senate. We followed this in 1895 by electing a Republican governor by a majority of 28,000. And in this year of grace we expect to give the Republican electors a majority of not less than 20,000.

I come to you then today in behalf of New Jersey, a politically redeemed and regenerated state. Old things have passed away, and behold all things have become new.

It is many long years since New Jersey has received recognition by a national convention.

When Henry Clay stood for protection in 1844 New Jersey furnished Theodore Frelinghuysen as his associate. The issue then was the restoration of the tariff and was more nearly like that of today than at any other period which I can recall in the nation's political history. In 1856 when the freedom of man brought the Republican party into existence and the great "Pathfinder" was called to lead, New Jersey furnished for that unequal contest William L. Dayton as the vice-presidential candidate. Since then counting for nothing, we have asked for nothing. During this period Maine has had a candidate for president and a vice-president; Massachusetts a vice-president; New York four vice-presidents, one of whom became president for almost a full term; Indiana a president, a candidate for president and a vice-president; Illinois a president twice and a vice-presidential candidate; Ohio two presidents and now a candidate for the third time; Tennessee a vice-president, who became president for almost a full term.

New Jersey's position.

We believe that the vice-presidency in 1896 should be given to New Jersey.
We have reasons for our opinion. We have ten electoral votes. We have carried in the state elections of 1893, 1894 and 1895. We hope we believe we can keep the state in the Republican column for all time. By your action today you can greatly aid us. Do you believe you could place the vice-presidency in a state more justly entitled to recognition, or one which it would be of more public advantage to hold in the Republican ranks?

If the party in any state is deserving of approval for the sacrifice of its members to maintain its organization then the Republicans of New Jersey, in this the hour of their ascendancy, after long years of bitter defeat, feel that they cannot come to this convention in vain.

We appeal to our brethren in the South who know with us what it is to be overriden by fraud at the ballot box; to be counted out by corrupt election officers; to be dominated by an arrogant, unrepenting Democracy.

We should have carried our state at every election for the past ten years if the count had been an honest one.
We succeeded in throttling the ballot box stuffers and imprisoning the corrupt election officers only to have the whole raft of them pardoned in a day to work again their nefarious practices upon an honest people. But today under ballot reform laws with an honest count we know we can win. It has been a long, terrible strife to the goal, but we have reached it unaided and unassisted from without and we come today promising to the ticket here selected, the vote of New Jersey, whether you give us the vice-presidential candidate or not. We make it no test of our Republicanism that we have a candidate. We have been too long used to fighting for principle for that; but we do say that you can by granting our request lighten our burden and make us a confident party with victory in sight, even before the contest begins.

Will we carry Colorado, Montana and Nevada this year if the Democracy declare for silver at 16 to 1? Let us hope we may. New Jersey has as many electoral votes as those three states together.

Will you not make New Jersey sure to take their place in case of need?
We have in all these long years of Republicanism been the "lone star" Democratic state of the North. Our forty years of wandering in the wilderness of Democracy are ended. Our Egyptian darkness disappears. We are on the hill top looking into the promised land. Encourage us as we march over into the political Canan of Republicanism, there to remain, by giving us a leader on the national ticket to go with us.

Friend of Their Men.

We are proud of our public men.
Their Republicanism and love of country has been welded in the furnace of political adversity. That man is a Republican who adheres to the party in a state where there is no hope for the gratification of personal ambitions.
There are no camp followers in the minority party of any state. They are all true soldiers in the militant army doing valiant service without reward, gain, or the hope thereof, from principle only.

A true representative of this class of Republicans New Jersey will offer you today. He is in the prime of life, a never faltering friend, with qualities of leadership unsurpassed, of sterling honor, of broad mind, of liberal views, of wide public information, of great business capacity, and with all the parliamentarian who would grace the presidency of the senate of the United States. A native of our state, the son of a humble farmer. He was reared to love of country in sight of the historic field of Monmouth, on which the blood of our ancestors was shed that the republic might exist. From a poor boy, unaided and alone, he has risen to his renowned among us.

In our state we have done for him all that the political condition would permit. He has been speaker of our assembly and president of our senate.
He has been the choice for United States senator of the Republican minority in the legislature and had it been in our power to have placed him in the senate of the United States he would long ere this have been there.

His capabilities are such as would grace any position of honor in the nation. Not for himself, but for our state, not for his ambition, but to give to the nation the highest type of public official do we come to this convention, by the command of our state, and in the name of the Republican party of New Jersey, unconquered and unconquerable, undivided and undivisible, with our united voice speaking for all that counts for good citizenship in our state and nominate to you for the office of vice-president of the republic Garrett Hobart of New Jersey.

J. Otis Humphrey of Illinois seconded Hobart.

Lippitt.

S. W. K. Allen of Rhode Island nominated Governor Charles W. Lippitt.

Kavanaugh.

W. M. Randolph of Tennessee presented the name of H. Clay Evans. He was seconded by colored delegate S. E.
Smith of Kentucky. Ex-Congressman Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin also seconded Evans, arousing enthusiasm by the prediction that the party would gain in the South all it lost in the west.

Walker.

Virginia presented the name of General James A. Walker, the only Republican member of congress from that state who served in the Confederate army under Stonewall Jackson. He was nominated by D. F. Bailey of Virginia.

A. B. White of West Virginia spoke for Hobart.

The roll call began, watched with close interest by the friends of the various candidates. Hobart soon scored a lead and when Pennsylvania cast her sixty-four votes for him his nomination was gained and the delegates began to leave the hall.

Pending the announcement of the vote a resolution was adopted making Chairman Thurston chairman of the committee to inform the presidential nominee of his election and Temporary Chairman Fairbanks the head of a committee to wait on the vice-president for the same purpose.

The nomination of Hobart was made unanimous.

Adjourned.

After the announcement of members of the committees to wait on the nominees for president and vice-president the convention adjourned at 7:50 p. m.

The Prohibitionists.

The Prohibitionists will hold their township convention next Monday evening at the W. C. T. U. rooms and will elect delegates to the county convention which will be held on Tuesday evening.
They will name a county ticket. W. C.
O'Brien and D. L. Bunn have both been spoken of as candidates for states attorney but it is not known whether or not they would accept the nomination. The convention will probably endorse the state Prohibition platform which favors woman suffrage and bimetalism without any discrimination against silver.

Will Accept.

Prof. J. W. Henninger, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, is in demand. On Saturday the school boards at Danville and Jacksonville elected him superintendent of the schools of the cities named. He has decided to accept the Jacksonville appointment and will resign his place in the office of the state superintendent.

On Thursday, June 26, Miss Marguerite Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E.
Pratt, will graduate from the Melville V.
Fuller school at Chicago. There are 48 members of the class. Quite an elaborate program has been arranged for the commencement. Scenes from Hamlet and Macbeth are to be presented. In Act 11, Scene 2, the murder of Duncan, Miss Pratt is to personate Lady Macbeth. The exercises will close with an Indian club drill, and presentation of diplomas by Dr. H. A. Johnston.

It Was Hot.

The heat was severe today and everyone seemed to feel it. The temperature was in the neighborhood of 90 a good part of the day.

Testing Fire Escapes.

This afternoon the fire commissioners and Chief Devore were testing some more

District Tribune Kicks.

Detroit, June 19.—The Tribune, the leading Republican paper of Michigan for many years, declines to accept the gold plank of the national platform.

This year Bloomington will have a monster July 4th celebration. The speakers are to be John R. Tanner and Judge Shope. Athletic sports in the afternoon.

HELLO GIRL'S DISCOVERY.

She Listened to the Vibrant Tenor Voice at the Phone.

In the Detroit Electrical works there is a night watchman who possesses an exceptionally fine tenor voice, and when he has nothing else to do he sings to keep himself awake, says the Detroit Tribune. Up in the big telephone exchange a dozen girls are told off for night duty. They are, like the tenor fond of the songs of the day, but, unlike him, they are not allowed to sing, and they grow lonely after the calls begin to be few and far between and the murmur of the street traffic below has ceased.

Some months ago, it is related, one of the girls who had answered a call from the electrical works, overheard the watchman singing his favorite song.
She listened as long as she could without arousing the ire of the unmusical individual at the other end of the line, and then confided her discovery to the rest of the girls. There was a short but eager council of war, and the girl who made the discovery was deputed to call up the harmonious watchman and ask him for a song. The watchman, who must be quite a phenomenon in that he is a tenor and also "an extremely bashful young man," required a little coaxing, but eventually complied with the request. All the other girls "cut in" on the line, and the watchman was encircled so often that his throat was sore when the concert was finished.

But this unique tenor is as fastidious as he is shy. It is said that there was only one girl at the "central" who can induce him to sing, and she is the maiden who made the original long-distance concert discovery. When the other girls begin to grow tired at night, she calls up the electrical works, and the watchman sings for her, unconscious of the fact that all the girls have "cut in" on the line, and that he is singing to the entire night force of the exchange. The others hint that there is a romance in it, but that is a matter which concerns only the young watchman and the girl at the "central."

O-R PLAYING CARDS.

Conclusion That the Suite Originated in Arrow-Shaped Characters.

"I have it," exclaimed an enthusiastic whistplayer who was engaged in a rubber at a Madison avenue whist club, relates the New York Herald.

"No you haven't," answered his partner. "It was trumped."

"I don't mean the trick," replied the first; "I refer to the origin of the characters on the cards. They have always jazzled me. I have studied the matter, read all that has been written on the subject and have never until this moment been satisfied as to how the cards came to bear the shapes we call hearts, diamonds, clubs and spades. Just now, as these spots representing the four suits lay there together, the signification of their forms flashed on me."

"Well what is it?" asked his partner.

"Shape as can be," answered the other. "Look at those four suits and see how much alike they are in form.
Can't you see they are all arrows?
Caneiform, and no mistake. They quite evidently originated with the old Assyrian inscriptions. I have no doubt that these figures originally represented arrowheads. When the Germans adopted the heart, bell, leaf and acorn on their cards they preserved the ancient form. Here are four varying shapes of the arrowhead, likely coming from four different and opposing tribes. Hence conflict between the suits as we play the game to-day."

FROM THE ORIENT.

Homely Bridegroom Hires Another to Stand in His Place.

A queer Arabian Nights' tale comes from the Punjab. A few weeks ago a party of weavers formed a marriage procession and started for a village in Ferozepore. The bridegroom was bald and blind of one eye, and his father feared the bride's parents would refuse him, so the weaver advised them to present a barber's boy who was with them as the groom. The barber was dressed in the groom's wedding garments and was accepted. When the marriage was over and they had returned home the weaver demanded his bride, but the barber refused to give her up, and now they have gone to law to settle the question.

ENGLISH POTWALLOPERS.

A Picturesque Survival of One of the Oldest Franchises.

Says the London Globe: "The last of the 'potwallopers' is dead. His name was Richard Atkinson, his age 97, and the scene of his potwalloping glories the ancient borough of Pontefract. The 'potwalloper' was a man who acquired the franchise by the extraordinary process of having boiled his own pot in the constituency for six months before the election. As an electoral class they were, as was natural, sublimely corrupt, and were deservedly abolished in 1832.
They were, however, a picturesque survival of, probably, the oldest franchise, next to that of the '40-shilling freeholder.'"

Tam O'Shanter's ride through the midnight wind with the horrible hobgoblins pursuing him was only a bad dream, or nightmare, which anybody is liable to experience as the result of over-eating or an attack of biliousness or indigestion. To avoid such disagreeable experiences one or two of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be taken after a too hearty meal and the action of the stomach will thereby be quickened and the meal promptly digested.

Then too if Nature be assisted a little now and then in removing offending matter from the stomach and bowels you will thereby avoid a multitude of distressing derangements and diseases, and will have less frequent need for your doctor's services.

Of all known agents for this purpose, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best.
Their secondary effect is to keep the bowels open and regular, not to further constipate, as is the case with other pills.
Hence, their great popularity with sufferers from habitual constipation, piles and their attendant discomfort and man-ifold derangements.

The Pellets relieve biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, constiveness or constipation, sour stomach, loss of appetite, coated tongue, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are mildly cathartic.

THE NEWS IN DECATUR.

Republicans Highly Pleased and Enthusiastic Over the Ticket.

There was great political joy in Decatur among the Republicans over the nomination of McKinley and Hobart. The news came to the Republicans promptly and was quickly posted on the windows, so that the crowd assembled could read the glad announcement for themselves.

Smiles of satisfaction were seen, and shouts for McKinley were heard, extending out of the office and up and down the street, as in the window was placed a big portrait of the nominee, a portrait also being placed on the flags placed at the office entrance. While the nomination of Major McKinley on the first ballot was confidently expected, the people waited around as if there could be any doubt as to the final result, waiting to see the figures, and then all were more than satisfied. All felt a personal interest in the work of the convention. They knew that the platform was all right from top to bottom, and all they wanted was for the convention to promptly put McKinley on that platform and the convention did it in short order. And then came the news that Garret A. Hobart, of New Jersey, had been nominated on the first ballot for vice-president.

Portraits of Mr. Hobart were displayed by the Republican and everybody shouted "Hurray for McKinley and Hobart," as they lingered about the office or went away to get late suppers.

The main topic of conversation about the city last night and today has been the excellent choice of the convention, and the platform is given equal praise.

MANNER OF SNEED'S DEATH.

Memphis Papers Tell the Story of the Cowardly Assault Which Cost the Life of a Good Man.

Major F. L. Hays, the city clerk, has received copies of the Memphis papers of last Tuesday which gave the particulars of the killing of Walter A. Sneed, husband of Jessie Fenton, who is a niece of Mrs. Hays.

It appears that the murder was committed in the street, in a crowd where a lot of people were gathered, to hear the returns of the vote cast at the primary election. Considerable feeling was being exhibited by the excited people as the election for sheriff was very close, there being a difference of only fifteen votes in the total. Nearly everybody had something to say, and the toughest element in the city was in the crowd, together with many of the representative citizens. It is difficult to find credible witnesses of the assault made on Sneed. He was standing in the crowd quietly, taking no part in the demonstration, just watching the people and looking at the returns. There was some jostling in the vicinity where Sneed was standing when a tough was heard to say, "Just see me swipe the guy," and then Sneed was struck by the blow. He wanted off the blow and raised his cane to defend himself when the fellow grappled the cane. The two men struggled with the cane a brief spell, and while Sneed held his arms upward to hold onto the cane, his assailant's fist rushed in with a dirk knife, having a blade seven inches long, and plunged the knife into the heart of Sneed, who died in a few moments. Skinkie Hite is the name of the cowardly fellow who used the knife. His companion's name is Ed Jennings. Both are in custody and will be given the limit of the law. There is a feeling at Memphis that Judge Lynch will take charge of the two men and have them strung up. The authorities have taken extra precautions to protect the prisoners. It does not appear that Sneed was known to either Hite or Jennings. The two men were intoxicated, and in the excitement of the election occasion were ready to do anything of a dangerous character.

ARMY IN JAIL AGAIN.

The Salvation Evangelists Taken in for Non-Payment of Fines.

At about 8 o'clock last evening the police made another arrest of the Salvation Army people and put ten of the eleven evangelists in the city prison where they are now confined on executions for non-payment of the fine imposed in Justice Peddecord's court after the trial by a jury some weeks ago, when a verdict of guilty of obstructing the streets and sidewalks was returned. At that time it was understood on the part of the court and officers that there would be no further interference on the part of the police, provided the army would keep moving when on the streets, not forming a circle on the square or stopping in front of places of business. Captain Stenking had the cases appealed to the circuit court, and promised that there would be no more street meetings provided the case came up at the present term of court. But yesterday also gave that all of the cases would go over to the September term and on the advice of attorneys and friends it is stated today by Captain Moore, lately returned from Michigan, the lady decided to appear again on the square with her army, and she did so, forming a circle and beginning the usual open air program. It was at this juncture and while the Modern Woodmen band was on the square playing a tune, waiting for a car to go to Riverside park, that the Salvation Army evangelists were taken in charge by the officers and marched off to the city prison. The parties arrested on the executions were Captain Louise Stoneking, Lillie Keenan, Iona Wilson, Romalia DeRuder, Minnie Williams, Ella Wood, Miss Wentz, J. A. Bland, William Haddock, J. H. Williams and H. E. Wood. All were placed in the iron cells except Miss Wentz, against whom there was no execution. She was released, being given the same treatment as was accorded the main body of the army when it was first arrested.

It is understood that Attorney Hutchison has been engaged to look after the interests of the evangelists. He has indicated a plan of action which he says will cure the hair and whiskers of some of the individuals who have been active in bothering the evangelists. "Hutch generally puts up an interesting fight in the courts. This case promises to be watched with considerable interest."

In Justice Peddecord's court sixteen members of the army were fined $1 each. The costs incurred at that trial, not counting attorney's fees, were $22.75, which proportioned would be something like $2.50 for each, fine and costs. Most costs were incurred last night by the arrest on the executions. Six members tried and found were not on the street last night. They will not be disturbed so long as they comply with the agreement entered into in the justice's court, as the police understand it.

Captain Moore was about the city today taking cash subscriptions to employ counsel. He says the Salvation Army never pay any fines. "We are working for Jesus, and if we have to suffer in this name we will do so."

Captain Stenking makes the point that she thought she had a right to hold the open air meeting because the Woodmen band was standing on the square collecting a crowd by its music. They were causing something of a blockade.

Marshal Mason was seen today at that feature of the case. He said he thought the point was well taken and had known that the band was going to make a stand on the square he would have run them in but the band stopped at a short time and boarded the first car for Riverside park. As he understands the ordinance no person has a right to block sidewalks or the streets. He says he is simply acting under the instructions of the city council which by its vote ordered that the ordinance shall be enforced.
